

CCTV to help curb crime in schools

CCTV security cameras are ideal for monitoring school premises, students and staff in the school. As more and more cases of crimes in schools show up, installing CCTV cameras for security in schools has become a must for the school authorities. Constant surveillance also reduces the incidents of harassment or any other nuisance within the school campus. CCTV cameras are highly useful as the school administration can use these to monitor the movements of students and detect illegal activities like vandalism, drug use, fights, trespassing, thefts, etc. School administrators or security officers can place CCTV security cameras near entrances, hallways, stairwells, cafeterias and parking lots to capture each and every activity in these areas. The benefits of using CCTV cameras include:

Helps in Controlling Crime

Surveillance and monitoring are necessary for crime prevention and this can easily be done by CCTV cameras. These cameras help in preventing occasional thefts or fights and violent crime by keeping track of the movements of the students. Security cameras can also capture clear picture of the people entering and exiting the school premises. Thus, school security staff can decide whether to let a person pass into a particular area after viewing their picture on the monitor.

Helps in Maintaining Discipline

The presence of cameras helps in maintaining discipline as the students know they are being watched. Video surveillance ensures that rules and regulations are followed and discipline is maintained in the school. The installation of CCTV cameras also helps the higher authorities to closely monitor the behavior of children towards their peers and their teachers.

Helps Police in Remote Monitoring of School

CCTV security cameras help police to monitor schools remotely with CCTV digital video technology, if the school authorities permit. This not only helps police to reach with help in case of an emergency but also helps them carry out investigation if a crime happens in the school. The presence of CCTV cameras also helps in preventing misconduct in the school premises as everyone in school knows that the CCTV camera footage is being watched by police also.
